Georgia Instructors Visit Soil Personnel

Jackson Bennett and Warren Turbett, instructors for the Athens, Ga. Training Center, were recent visitors of Billy Taylor and T. C. Self.

Mr. Bennett and Mr. Turbett were particularly interested in Soil and Water Conservation practices being applied in this section of Alabama.

Bennett stated that crops and farming in general looked better in Coffee county than other areas they had passed through in traveling from Athens. He states in the upper Pea River Watershed considerable steep land is still being cultivated. Naturally the steeper the land the greater the soil losses due to erosion.

There have been a number of S. C. S. employees moving away from Elba during the past ten years. Charles Harper is now Work Unit Conservationist in Monroeville. Chasley has had some illness but is improving. Jimmy Holland is our neighbor in Clay county attending school at the University of Michigan.

Hubert Kilgo moved to Winston county in North Alabama. Joe Wildman was transferred to Cullman county.

Into The Mouths Of Babies — Poison

During just one week end in a big city, according to the local poison control center, the following substances were swallowed by children less than five years old:

Buttons, borax, turpentine, ink, polystyrene cement, soap powder, iodine, diaper can deodorizer, laundry bleach, varnish, motorbale charcoal igniting fluid, gun-cleaning solvent, safety matches, dry ice, drain cleaner, liquid bubble solution, toilet bowl cleaner, mercury from a wall thermometer, chalk, corn pad, roach and ant killer, cleaning fluid, bubble solution, fruit spray, baby powder, battery additive, benzene.

Please observe all the usual safety measures, no matter what's going on. And remember that young children can move with incredible speed. You can't afford a second's carelessness.

OBITUARIES

DAVID HENRY WINDHAM

David Henry Windham, 83, of Elba, died at his home Saturday, July 2. He is survived by the widow, Mrs. Onie Windham, four daughters, Mrs. Minnie W. Grace of Montgomery, Mrs. Eileen Benton of Andalusia, Mrs. Martha Lunsford and Mrs. Francis Hutto, both of Elba; and seven grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Sunday at Pantheus Baptist Church. Burial was in the church cemetery with Masonic rites at the graveside.

LEON HARRY MOODY

Leon Harry Moody, of Elba, died in an automobile accident Friday, July 1, at Seale, Ky. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon B. Moody of Elba.

Funeral was held Tuesday from the Basin Baptist church with the Rev. Welby Bozeman officiating. Burial was in New Home cemetery.

REVIVAL AT SHILOH

A revival will start at the Shiloh Baptist Church Sunday, July 10, and continue through Friday, July 15, with Evangelist Bobby Moore in charge. Services will start at 7:30 p. m. The pastor, Rev. Charles Black, will be in charge of preaching Sunday.

Spiced Questions And Answers About A Newspaper, With Lots Of Humor

The Elba Clipper would like to claim credit for the following humorous questions and answers. The words are The Clipper's but the ideas are from a column by Bob Wright in the Montello (Wisc.) Tribune, represented as answers to questions posed by various readers.

Q. Why don't you print in color, say red, once in a while?

A. The Bookkeeping Department has already used all our red ink.

Q. Why didn't you publish that poem I sent you?

A. A newspaper man would be disloyal to his business if he weren't convinced that prose can express any idea better than poetry.

Q. What do you do with all your money?

A. Squander it on frivolities like food, clothes and house rent for me and my one and only dependent.

Q. Why don't you put out a better paper, like The Birmingham News?

A. Plans are all laid out to do that very thing the minute Elba is as big as Birmingham.

Q. Why don't you print a weekly sermon?

A. The same reason the preacher doesn't write editorials.

Q. Then why not print some good recipes?

A. We did once, and left out a line. Twenty people got sick and quit taking the paper.

Q. I still can't see why you use so much space for such trivialities as "Joe Smith is confined to his home with an attack of flu".

A. Good old Joe is a mighty fine guy with a lot of friends who miss his humor when he fails to go to the postoffice every morning.

Q. What would you give me for writing a weekly column of mutual home-own philosophy?

A. Maybe you think all editors get fun out of saying no.

Q. Last week I brought you a detailed obituary about Uncle Homer? You only printed a short paragraph and stuck on the bottom of an inside page.

A. No one in Elba knew Uncle Homer and he had been dead a month when you brought us his obituary. The only reason I used any of it was that I lacked the courage to throw all of it away.

Q. Why don't you write an editorial and tell those guys on city council what to do?

A. Why don't you? That would REALLY be news.

Q. Why don't you print more Letters to the Editor?

A. I sometimes talk to myself but I refuse to write letters to myself.

Q. Why don't you put a little humor in the paper, like that item I sent you that Joe Blank spent Saturday night as the guest of the sheriff? That would have been a good joke on old Joe.

A. There's a place in Alabama for guys like you, and it ain't in Elba.

Q. Why don't you publish a pin-up picture once in a while?

A. I published my picture when I was elected president of Rotary in Panama City and no one asked for autographed copies.

Q. Why don't you use that advertising space for news?

A. Because advertising is news about where readers can spend their dollars to best advantage. I can imagine what you would do if I increased the circulation rate to 33¢ a copy without advertising.

Q. Why don't we finish a cup of coffee?

A. After that crack about Joe being a weekend guest of the sheriff, I'm afraid I might think it funny to slip a powder in my cup.

BERRY AT NORFOLK

Edward H. Berry, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Berry of Rt. 3, Elba, has recently been stationed at the U. S. Naval Station, Norfolk, Va., awaiting release to inactive duty in the Naval Reserve.

Children On Pension Aid Must Get Jobs When They Are Open

In answer to charges that aid to dependent children recipients refuse jobs because they "are afraid" if they work they'll be cut off the welfare, Pensions and Security Commissioner Alvin T. Prestwood said such refusal can be caused by closing the case if the fact is made known to the county department.

"We have definite requirements in regard to employment of both adults and children in ADC families," Prestwood said. "In the first place, the program is only for children who already have lost one or both parents support through death disability or absence. Thus, no child can get aid with two able-bodied parents in the home."

Parents Must Work

"Furthermore," said Prestwood, "an able bodied father must always seek and accept employment. An able bodied mother is also expected to seek and accept work she can do, provided suitable plans can be made for the care of the children."

Effects of this policy are seen in the fact that the mothers in about a third of the families are working full or part-time, the commissioner said. For them, ADC supplements their low wages. In over 13 percent of the homes the mother was not present.

Also, Prestwood said, last month about a fourth of the ADC cases closed no longer needed aid because of employment of a parent or child. Last month, too, a total of 76 ADC cases were referred to Vocational Rehabilitation Service with a view to self support.

High Turnover

Prestwood said since ADC is the federally matched assistance category with the largest number of persons feasible for employment or rehabilitation, it has the highest turnover. The number of cases closed being higher than the number opened. In May, this aid was granted to 21,457 families, which was more than 1,400 fewer than in May, 1959.

As for other needy groups finding work, Prestwood said that with an average of over 74, the old age pensioners' demand are in the labor market. Neither are the recipients of aid to the disabled since one requirement is a "permanent impairment that is totally disabling." Under both State and Federal laws, the blind may earn as much as $50 monthly and not have it counted in computing their needs. Those in this group who are able to work are eager to do so, he added.

Revival To Start At Chestnut Grove

A revival will start next Sunday, July 10, at Chestnut Grove Methodist Church at 10 a. m. with a special program followed by a sermon at 11 a. m. and dinner at the church. Rev. Christenbury of Brundidge will be in charge.

RACES SATURDAY NIGHT

Micro-Midget races will be held at the Elba Race Track, just off the Airport road, Saturday night with time trials at 7:30 p. m. and races at 8 p. m. Elba cars will compete with racers from Dothan and probably Pensacola.

Man and Wife Legion Team

A team in matrimony and a team in the American Legion are Mr. and Mrs. James Boswell. Mr. Boswell served during the past year as commander of Culver Post, No. 42, American Legion, while Mrs. Boswell served as president of the Auxiliary. A successor to Mr. Boswell will be elected tonight and a successor to Mrs. Boswell will be elected Tuesday, next week.

July 4 Quiet in Elba; With Only One Slight Accident

Fourth of July holidays passed quietly in Elba, with the closing of stores and other places of business as most of the population went to the beaches or to visit in other cities. There was no local celebration.

There was only one slight automobile accident. Fred Hodge, of Elba, escaped serious injury when he backed his automobile off the road into a 11.6 mile north of Elba on county road No. 21.

Hodge told Highway Patrolman J. D. Wimbles, who investigated, that he ran several feet past a house where he had planned to stop and in backing his car towards the house he ran off the road. Damage to the car was estimated at $300.

Coffee Teachers Study At Auburn

Several teachers from Coffee county schools are participating in the third annual Superintendents' Cooperative Program at Auburn under direction of the School of Education and the sponsorship of the Ford Foundation. Those enrolled are:

Onita Archie, Marion Bailey, Brunson, J. E. Foster, Eugene Hornsby, Harvey J. Locklar, Carol E. Pincok, John Clayton Whitman and Ned Young. Onita Archie is participating in the mental health workshop, and Marion Brunson and John Whitman in the NDEA Counseling and Guidance Institute.

The Coffee county group are studying a guidance program and the formulation of school policies.

REVIVAL AT CURTIS

A revival will start at the Curtis Baptist church Sunday, July 10, with services continuing through Friday, July 15, and 7:30 p. m. Rev. Welby Bozeman, pastor of the Western Baptist Church of Elba, will be the evangelist. James Martin song leader, Rev. Burney Reese is pastor. Everyone is invited.

CEMETERY WORKING

There will be a cemetery working at the Hebron Baptist Church Saturday, July 9. Elba cars will compete with racers from Dothan and probably Pensacola.

Legion To Elect Officers Tonight

J. F. Kendrick New Worshipful Master

John Frank Kendrick succeeded Roy Mosley as Worshipful Master of Elba Lodge, No. 170, Free and Accepted Masons, as new officers were installed Tuesday night.

Other officers installed were: Bibb Q. Burdick, senior warden; J. C. Lewis, junior warden; John Watson, senior deacon; Clemon Hanchey, junior deacon; Q. P. Boswell, senior steward; Robert Miller, junior steward; L. A. Boutwell, treasurer; Will Kendrick, secretary, and J. D. Whitman, treasurer.

From Our Early Files

22 YEARS AGO

The Missionary Society of the Elba Methodist Church was entertained in the parsonage when Mrs. A. C. French, M. A. Arden Bradley, and Mrs. J. C. Vickers were hostesses.

Mrs. W. R. Crook presided over a short business session, after which Mrs. Price Ringo and Mrs. Kline Bentley gave the program. Mrs. M. L. S. Rip-in was welcomed as a new member.

Plans are being completed to put into operation next week five earning plants located at Elba, Enterprise, Goodman, Zion Chapel and Kinston.

R. L. O'Keeley, teacher of vocational agriculture from Watkinsville, Ga., is spending two weeks in Coffee county setting up the plants. They will be under the supervision of local vocational teachers, who will be assisted in operating them by WPA workers.

The committee appointed by the Coffee County Agricultural Workers Council for the purpose of putting these five plants into operation is W. L. Walsh, chairman; Mrs. Kathleen Ellis, Supt., A. C. Duraway, J. H. Kitchens, Miss Volma Patterson and Miss Opal Callaway.

Mrs. R. L. Cooper, Mrs. W. M. Tucker and Mrs. J. W. Kendrick were visitors to Montgomery Friday.

Mrs. Bob Harris of Mobile was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Dana Perdue and Mr. Perdue, for several days recently.

Delegates To Go To Demo. Convention In Calif. Next Week

All eyes turn to California next week for the National Democratic Convention. Gov. John Patterson, who is going as an observer, and Alabama's 18 convention delegates each with a half-vote apiece, left this week for the long trek to Los Angeles.

Leader of the delegation is Probate Judge T. C. Almon of Decatur. He has called the first caucus for Sunday afternoon at the Teris Hotel, Alabama's headquarters in the convention city.

The convention opens Monday, but nominations and balloting for the Democratic presidential nomination won't come until next Wednesday.

Several Alabamians are already at work on pre-convention arrangements in California, including State Democratic Executive Committee Chairman, Sam Engschardt; Public Service Commissioner, Ralph Smith, who is on the platform committee; and Birmingham Atty. Robert G. W. of the credentials committee.

The convention will be one of the largest of all time, and one of the best covered. Some 5,500 newsmen, including photographers, will be on hand to record all happenings of the week-long event.

The Republicans held their convention later in Chicago.

A BIGGER FACTOR

Newspaper headlines in The Montgomery Advertiser and other newspapers about the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Choctawhatchee-Pea River Development Association in Geneva last week emphasized the date and time of the annual meeting but there was a more important factor.

Before the directors settled down to the meeting's business, President Ronald Wise of DeFuniak Springs reported on a recent meeting with the U. S. Army Engineers in Mobile.

"The Engineers seemed more encouraging and interested than they have ever been," he said. Then he launched into a description of the Engineers' trend of thinking; that they are discussing the best locations for dams and locks and hydro-electric plants.

It is now believed that two or three locks and dams will be needed below Caryville and one about ten miles above there while hydro-electric plants were recommended for Geneva and Newton, he said.

Final report by the Engineers will be postponed from the schedule date of Nov. 1 to at least June or July of next year because rock strata studies revealed that bed rock on the river, he said.

That's bed rock, brass tacks, talk!

Of course the river development will begin where it empties into West Bay, and of course the bigger part of the watershed will be developed first. But the effects of any development on the river will be felt within a 100-mile radius. Elba will begin to reap the benefits as soon as the first dam and lock are built at Caryville, even more benefits when hydro-electric plants are built at Geneva and Newton, and still more when deepening of Pea River is extended to Elba.

When will that be? Maybe ten years, maybe fifteen, or longer. That seems like a long time when you look ahead, but not long when you look backward.

How fortunate would Elba be today if the river association had been formed and promoted in 1950 or 1910!
